Report Suspicious

Hello,

I wanted to share an important update regarding HON products. Essendant, the distributor through which we purchase HON, has announced they are exiting the independent office products dealer channel. At this time, they are still selling through their remaining HON inventory, but once those stock levels are depleted, we will no longer have access to HON products moving forward.

Because of this change, we will also no longer be able to honor our existing contract with El Dorado County specific to the purchasing of HON product. However, please note that we can still fully honor the Workrite contract without interruption.

We remain committed to supporting the County's furniture needs and can provide alternate solutions from our current manufacturer partners. If there are specific HON items you were considering, we would be glad to recommend comparable options to ensure continuity.

Thank you for your understanding, and please let me know how you would like us to proceed.

Thank you,

Candy Dallosta
