CLASS CHARACTERISTICS

Administrative Analyst I: This is the entry-level classification in the Administrative Analyst class series. Initially under general supervision, incumbents learn and perform routine duties relating to professional administrative or programmatic analytical support. As experience is gained, assignments become more varied, complex, and difficult; general supervision and frequent review of work lessen as an incumbent demonstrates skill to perform the work independently. Positions at this level usually perform most of the duties required of the positions at the II-level, but are not expected to function at the same skill level and usually exercise less independent discretion and judgment in matters related to work procedures and methods. Work is usually supervised while in progress and fits an established structure or pattern. Exceptions or changes in procedures are explained in detail as they arise.

Administrative Analyst II: This is the fully qualified journey-level classification in the Administrative Analyst class series. Positions at this level are distinguished from the I-level by the performance of the full range of duties as assigned, working independently, and exercising judgment and initiative. Positions at this level receive only occasional instruction or assistance as new or unusual situations arise and are fully aware of the operating procedures and policies of the work unit. Incumbents do not supervise other professional staff, but may ~~supervise~~supervise technical and/or administrative support staff as an ancillary duty.

Positions within the Administrative Analyst ~~classification~~class series may be distinguished by the area of specialty to which assigned.

~~This class~~The Administrative Analyst II classification is ~~further~~ distinguished from the ~~Senior~~Sr. Administrative Analyst in that the latter has supervisory responsibility of professional, technical, and/or administrative support staff.

Positions in the Administrative Analyst class series are flexibly staffed and positions at the II-level are normally filled by advancement from the I-level, after gaining the knowledge, skill, and experience which meet the qualifications for and after demonstrating the ability to perform the work of the higher-level class.
