What we do:

- Create and support a vision for the EDCHM
- Recommend museum policies
- Recommend to accept or reject artifact donations
- Make strategic planning recommendations
- Make budget and funding recommendations
- Represent the museum externally
- Advocate for the museum

Wheelbarrow made by JM Studebaker on display at the EDCHM. By 1855, "Wheelbarrow Johnny"'s wheelbarrows were fetching $10 each, enabling him to amass savings amounting to $3,000.

Celebrations since our last meeting:

1. Expanded days and hours
2. Cleanup of the facility inside and outside (ongoing)
3. 600+ items documents in Catalog IT, and growing
4. 2 new volunteers
5. Enablement of 12+ community activities

Driving up the steps of the El Dorado County Courthouse on Main Street in Placerville. Gertrude Kirk and her father in a Model T circa 1913-5. They owned dealerships in Placerville.

Meg Gifford, author and descendent of El Dorado County Sheriff, James Madison Anderson (1886-90), presents to a sold-out audience at the IOOF on the last legal hangings in El Dorado County.

Meg's research, and this EDCHS community event, were supported in part by the EDCHM.

It was so popular,
there was a waitlist!

EDCHS President, Jill Kearney, and F&T Museum Manager, Heather Burnett, lead a March walking tour about 1860s Placerville Main Street Merchants.

Research performed at EDCHM supported and enabled this community event.

Thanks to the Veerkamp family and research performed at the EDCHSM, the Historical Society was able to support native resident Phil Berry's presentation on El Dorado County logging.

Thanks to the EDCHSM, EDWRR, and the Historical Society, residents and tourists to El Dorado County were treated to a ride on the restored railway.

The EDCHS launched a new exhibit at the Fountain & Tallman Museum showcasing the history of the now-lost Chinatown in Placerville.

Artifacts were loaned from the EDCHM to create this exhibit.

Upcoming Goals/Workplan:

We're ready to do more for the Community and the Supervisors.

- Supervisor Goals: We're focused on supporting the Supervisors' core goals and the Library Administration.
- Economic Growth: We can significantly grow community engagement and drive new tourism revenue for El Dorado County.
- Call to Action: Let's build a plan that serves our County residents and boosts the county's economy.

Teenage tourists (Jak and Alex) from Ohio touring the EDCHM in front of the M.T. Kelly replica store display.

Opportunities to better serve El Dorado County Citizens and Tourists

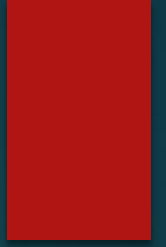

1. Signage
2. Increase social media & advertising presence:
did you know that....*
3. Educational programs
4. Partnerships with museums and non-profits
5. Digitization

With your additional support, we can make this happen!

VISION STATEMENT:

The El Dorado County Historical Museum will be a nationally recognized leader in preserving and interpreting the complete, diverse history and cultures of El Dorado County.
