I've served in the Cities of Glendale, Simi Valley and Culver City where I was the City's Public Information Officer and President of the California Association of Public Information Officers (CAPIO, a branch of the League of California Cities) for several years. I was recruited by KB Home in 2001 to be their Director of Local Government Affairs creating a team of planners to work with local governments addressing entitlements and land use. Most recently, I retired from the City of Sacramento in 2017 where I served as the City's first Director of Government Affairs

Why do you seek appointment? After 25 years working in and around government, I truly miss being a part of the public process. I've learned so much over my career, working with planners, public administrators, and project applicants that I feel I truly have gifts to share with my community. I am also fortunate to have created a wonderful second career that allows me to serve the public in other ways, such as an appointment. I have built many public and private projects in and for local jurisdictions and have a professional understanding of the planning and entitlement process, water, fire, and flood issues relevant to this community. I own a business and moved my family here. I truly believe that I would be a strong addition to CEDAC.
Additional Information During my tenure with KB Home, I built over half a million homes in Sacramento, the Central Valley, and Reno. Having grown up in an apartment in New York, the idea of building homes for cops, firefighters, and teachers made me very happy. Then I became aware of the flooding issues in Natomas and throughout the areas where we were building. I spent the second half of my career with the City of Sacramento getting millions of dollars in levee money from Washington to ensure all those homeowners were safe. What we do makes a difference. I'd like to make a difference in El Dorado County. Thank you in advance for your time and consideration.
