Summary of qualifications I started my career as an inspector in the private sector, but I have since transitioned to the public sector and progressed to the role of building official. While I never placed much emphasis on titles, I always actively pursued opportunities for leadership and increased responsibility. Over the course of my 16 years in the building industry, I have obtained building safety credentials from the International Code Council in numerous areas of expertise. Through this extensive experience, I have gained valuable insight into various aspects of the ever-changing building industry, including permitting requirements and processes, utilization of digital permit solutions, construction and inspection logistics, multi-agency review and regulations, fee development, and upcoming legislative changes that will impact our local building community.
Affiliations with professional and/or community groups Sacramento Valley Association of Building Officials (SVABO) California Building Officials (CALBO) International Code Council (ICC)
Why do you seek appointment? After reviewing the two BIAC meetings that took place this year it was clear the committee does not have a direction or functionality. The deviation from the resolution is not due to members' competency of the building industry, however, it is the lack of guidance from the public agency which inspired me, a public official, to join. The insight I have on the technicalities of land use administration will promote quality inquiries and recommendations to Planning &amp; Building and the Board of supervisors.
