County Counsel will be rejecting the revisions to Article IV and Article VI to the Lexipol contract because the information provided by Contractor is based on information in existing law that is not subject to copyright. Furthermore, there is no reason to conclude that use of the information involving existing law and documents prepared by the County in relation to existing law, are a derivative work that should become the property of the Contractor. This is unacceptable language that will not be approved by this office. This office will also be recommending that the previous language in Article XIV be retained.

Judith,

Here are the changes that were requested. They wanted a new contract, but since their current contract doesn't end until Jan 2016, I amended their contract and added and deleted according to their request.

Thanks, and let me know if there is anything else.
