MEMO TO: Board of SupervisorsFROM: Diane Rabinowitz, President, NAMI El Dorado County and resident of Placerville*DATE: 8/21/22*RE: 22-1476

I am writing in support of this proposal to purchase tiny homes for the residents of Grizzly Flats made homeless by the Caldor Fire. The tiny homes portrayed in the slide show are beautiful, and I hope you've been assured that there will be no problem from the planning department to bring and install those here. I am glad that Mr. Turnboo has finally overcome his frustration and come up with a concrete proposal to help the residents of his district, and I'm sorry it has taken so long for this proposal to manifest.

However, I am not in favor of the money for this proposal coming from the county's coffers. What efforts were made to obtain funds from FEMA, to support us in the aftermath of the Caldor Fire? How aggressively did Republicans appeal to our representative in the US Congress, Tom McClintock? Why, if he was appealed to, was he unable or unwilling to respond? Why was all the zeal from the Republicans in this county tapped to squash the Perks Court proposal but not to rally in support of the victims of the Caldor Fire? Why did we not unite as a community in a bipartisan effort to appeal to our representatives and get this done?

I am sorry that Mr. Turnboo has nursed his anger and frustration for all this time, but I'm glad he's finally come up with a proposal. Now it's time to get the federal FEMA or other relief funds that we should have been rallying for all this time. And Mr. Turnboo, when citizens of this county reach out to you, it would behoove you to respond. Let's try to overcome partisan prejudices so we can get more things done for all of us.

I strongly support looking into providing tiny homes for the Grizzly Flats residents who lost their homes in the Caldor fire and didn't have insurance. The president didn't keep his promise. FEMA didn't honor the promise. Kudos to supervisor Turnboo for proposing this.
