Supervisor Santiago,

As a resident, business owner, and employer in El Dorado County, I believe it is important to establish reasonable financial options for our citizens to choose whether, and how best, to improve energy efficiency and install renewable energy features in their homes and communities. The PACE program is one method that can particularly assist low-income and other recovering, economy-strained home/property owners.

Being able to make amortized payments over an extended loan period with essentially no up-front costs, and linking the loan debt to the property taxes, makes such improvements attainable to those otherwise unable to afford the energy efficiency and renewable energy measures. As you know, energy efficiency and renewable energy are primary policies of our state and federal decision-makers, and providing this choice to a larger segment of our citizen population is clearly in the public interest.

I encourage you and the remaining Board members to support implementation of the PACE program for El Dorado County.

Thank you in advance for your consideration,

Dear El Dorado County Board of Supervisors:

Many groups within the Tahoe Basin are working to protect and restore the natural resources of the Sierra Nevada while promoting healthy communities, strongly supports the county-wide district to finance clean energy retrofits proposed by Ygrene Energy Fund.

Locally-led energy efficiency and renewable energy projects generate good jobs, save customers on energy bills, keep money local and help reduce our impact on natural resources. The most common barrier to these "triple bottom line" projects is up-front financing, which is exactly why adoption of the proposed energy district would be of such benefit to El Dorado County's communities, economy and environment.

We urge your support of the proposed El Dorado clean energy district.

Sincerely,

Michelle McLean
