The Network Contagion Research Institute

The Network Contagion Research Institute (NCRI) — at Rutgers University in New Jersey (U.S.) — "is the world's foremost expert in identifying and forecasting the threat and spread of misinformation and disinformation across social media platforms. Committed to quickly identifying these emerging threats, NCRI forecasts potential risks to empower partners to become proactive in protecting themselves against false narratives that create rifts of distrust that impact institutions, capitol markets, public health and safety."

See Overview at: https://networkcontagion.us/,

Mapping Mistrust (19 pages, including maps):
https://storymaps.arcgis.com/stories/2aad0d902c15495a9eb5a2b64c3c87ca

NCRI Reports: https://networkcontagion.us/reports/

Media Room: https://networkcontagion.us/media-room/