Dear Supervisors:

I am extremely concerned that the Tribe's planned commercial venture (gas station, car wash, market, etc) in Shingle Springs will bring crime, traffic, and pollution to the area. At the very least, please contact the Federal Government and demand a full environmental review of their proposed gas station.

I drive by the property every day at least twice. I see that the Tribe has posted an application for a liquor license on the property. Can you contact the state government about this? For instance, is it legal to sell liquor so close to two elementary schools?

My understanding is the Tribe promised to use this land for six homes for the tribe, and NOT a commercial venture. The "fee to trust" application was approved on their promise. Obviously, the Tribe has no intention of keeping their promise. This is wrong, wrong, wrong. Please contact the Federal Government (the BIA) and tell them they are NOT keeping their promise.

The RedHawk Casino Tribe is not being good neighbors right now -- directly across the street. They have been a nuisance to the neighbors for months and months with their loud and dangerous Gun Range and loud and dusty MotoCross. The property values in the neighborhood have gone down substantially because of the Tribe's activities. Their quality of life has been compromised. It is quite clear the Tribe does not NOT care about the neighbors.

The RedHawk Casino Tribe is not being good neighbors again -- with this proposed commercial venture. This project is unneeded. We have plenty of gas stations, markets, liquor stores, and car washes in the Shingle Springs/Cameron Park area (and these tax paying businesses will greatly suffer if the Tribe gets their way and builds this project).

We need our Supervisors to protect us. Protect our tax-paying businesses. Protect our community. Please do something.

Respectfully,

Jeannette Maynard
