CHILD AND FAMILY TEAM (CFT) BASICS

Child and Family Teaming is a process, not an event. Each CFT is meant to build upon each other to show progress and set achievable case plan goals and objectives. The Child and Family Team process recognizes that families are the experts in their lives and gives them an active role in creating and implementing solutions.

How a CFT is structured

The CFT meeting is a formatted process. The facilitator explains the format at the opening of each meeting. Notes are charted throughout the meeting (either virtually by screen share or charted in pen if meeting in person) to provide CFT participants with a current reflection of the thoughts that are being expressed by each team member. As the CFT progresses, “Action steps” are discussed, agreed upon, and charted. Within two business days after the CFT, the facilitator will email the charted Notes and the Action Plan to the youth’s assigned DPO, and the Action Plan only to all other CFT participants.

Confidentiality

Each CFT is confidential in the context that information such as medical diagnosis and results of drug tests cannot be shared outside of the participants of each CFT. Sharing CFT information is limited to the purpose of providing services and supports to the youth and family and cannot be disclosed anywhere else for any other purpose (EXCEPT to the Juvenile Court with jurisdiction over each youth). A confidentiality disclosure is shared at the introduction of every CFT meeting.

Who plans a CFT

The facilitator organizes and plans the CFT as part of the ongoing teaming process. The facilitator builds a team for the youth with assistance from the youth’s assigned DPO. The youth and family will be consulted about optional participants (either by the facilitator or the DPO) if time allows; otherwise, the facilitator builds the team based on the information provided by the DPO about who the key participants are in the youth’s case.

Who participates in a CFT

Required participants: youth, family members (as determined by the facilitator and the youth’s assigned DPO), DPO, behavioral health worker, CASA, and the educational rights holder for the youth.

Optional participants: attorney, school staff, faith based/spiritual supports, friends, neighbors, youth partners, parent partners, coaches, community members, and other natural supports.

The facilitator will consider the youth and family’s preference of CFT participants. If the youth and family do not wish for a person from the required category to participate, or if a non-required participant wishes to participate and the youth or family objects, the facilitator and DPO will collaborate and decide a plan of action prior to the CFT.

When do we schedule a CFT (Frequency/Necessity)

1. When Probation's recommendation will be or could be Placement (= foster care). A "pre-placement CFT" is considered best practice but is not required,
2. For youth ordered to Placement - Within 60 days of the Placement Order by the Court (whether the youth is in or out of custody),
3. For youth in Placement – Minimally, every 6 months (or as needed) when youth/NMD is not receiving specialty mental health services (SMHS), and/or
4. For youth in Placement – Minimally, every 90 days (or as needed) when youth/NMD is receiving SMHS. (Generally, youth in an STRTP level placement most likely receive SMHS.)

A CFT can be initiated at any time by the foster care youth, a participating family member, or any other CFT participant.

For youth placed in an STRTP in which the CFT is coordinated by the STRTP, the above timelines still apply. Best practice is for the DPO or facilitator to collaborate with the STRTP and combine the teams to meet the required timelines above.

Why do we need a CFT (Purpose)

1. For youth at risk of removal from their home without a current Placement Order ("pre-placement CFT") to determine risk factors and protective factors, explore all placement and placement prevention options, and identify and gather the contact information of the youth's support system/team.
2. For youth ordered to foster care but not yet placed. Placement determinations will be discussed and placement options explored. A goal is to expand on information already gathered for/in the SSR to develop a reunification plan and identify concurrent planning options, if applicable. Timelines of action steps will be discussed to ensure timely reunification and to meet placement goals.
3. For ongoing case management for foster youth (Case Plan updates/review), ensuring a team based approach to updating the youth's Case Plan goals. The progress of the previous Action Plan will be discussed to identify stabilization factors as well as challenges, and a new Action Plan will be created using known protective factors (family and community supports) to keep the team accountable to the Case Plan goals.

Every CFT may have a different purpose; the CFT purpose is driven by the needs of each youth and the timing of the youth's situation and Case Plan. It is a goal that each youth and family member understands the purpose of every CFT and actively participates.

Probation Officer Responsibilities

A field DPO must be present at each CFT; this is either the assigned DPO, the DPO writing the report to the Court, a Court DPO, or a combination.

Every DPO participating in a CFT must hear and consider all information presented. The DPO must share any information known when discussing each youth's specific situation, and must be prepared to give an opinion regarding alternatives, a recommendation, etc.

In each written report to the Court when a CFT has occurred, the DPO writing the report must provide the Court with information on what transpired in each CFT: Purpose, needs, goals, recommendations of the CFT, etc.

After a youth is placed, and prior to the next CFT, the assigned DPO should collaborate with the facilitator to review the Case Plan and determine if progress has been made in meeting the Case Plan goals. This will assist the facilitator to know of any areas of concern so the team will be prompted with appropriate questions to determine the barriers and build an Action Plan to address them. The Action Plan will identify and address barriers to drive the youth's progress towards his/her Case Plan goals. The Action Plan will be reviewed in the subsequent CFT.
