Hello Supervisors,

I emailed you regarding masks (face diapers) and the negative impact on oral health in late 2020. Here's the recording of the workshop. Perhaps you could direct Nancy's Oral Health Team to circle back to this topic and watch this.

Oral health should be a focus of Public Health. Tooth decay is a very dangerous health issue. I'm sure our Public Health Oral Health team would never want to promote practices that have a negligible impact on oral health.

Behavioral science and strategic communication has been used to instill fear of a virus with 99% survival rate and was so successful the nation became submissive. So much do that people walk around doing something detrimental to their health. It's time for some course correcting.

Blessings,

Tracy Doyle
