DISCUSSION / BACKGROUND

The Code of Civil Discourse, which was first drafted by the National Conflict Resolution Center (NCRC) as a tool for local governments and agencies in 2015, is intended to serve as a guide for facilitating civil, respectful discussions of opposing views during public meetings. Since then, it has been adopted by multiple local government bodies which include the San Diego Unified School Board, the City of Del Mar, the City of Chula Vista, and in November 2021 by the San Diego County Board of Supervisors.
