DISCUSSION / BACKGROUND

Human Resources

Department-specific class specification: Human Resources Technician

Human Resources is recommending changes to the minimum qualification section of the classification specification, specifically the required experience. The goal of such changes is to attract candidates who have knowledge of human resources versus clerical experience in any environment. Having the ability to test candidate's knowledge, skills, and abilities in the realm of human resources is important in two ways: 1) in order to provide quality human resource services to County departments, and 2) reduces the amount of time and resources required to train a new employee.

The current minimum qualifications are as follows:

Any combination of the required experience, education, and training that would provide the essential knowledge, skills, and abilities is qualifying.

Equivalent to graduation from high school, supplemented by 24 semester units of college-level coursework in human resources management, business administration, public administration, industrial/organizational psychology, or a closely related field;

AND

Two (2) years of experience which included responsibility for interpreting and explaining complex rules and regulations, researching information and preparing accurate documents and reports,

OR

Four (4) years of journey-level office support work performing human resources duties that included data entry and the processing of forms and records.

The proposed minimum qualifications are as follows:

Any combination of the required experience, education, and training that would provide the essential knowledge, skills, and abilities is qualifying.

Equivalent to graduation from high school, supplemented by 24 semester units of college-level coursework in human resources management, business administration, public administration, industrial/organizational psychology, or a closely related field;

AND

Two (2) years of full-time experience performing varied and complex clerical work related to human resources, including explaining policies, performing data entry, and processing forms and records.

Planning and Building

Department-specific class specification:

- Code Enforcement Supervisor
 - Title change from Supervising Code Enforcement Officer
 - The Board approved classification specification revisions on June 9, 2020 (Legistar #: 20-0735). Due to implications regarding the Fiscal Year 2020-21 budget and allocation document, the item stated that Human Resources would return to the Board in late June or early July to initiate a title change for this classification from Supervising Code Enforcement Officer to Code Enforcement Supervisor.

Chief Administrative Office

Department-specific class specification: Emergency Medical Services and Emergency Preparedness Coordinator

Human Resources is recommending that the title of the classification be changed from Emergency Medical Services and Emergency Preparedness Coordinator to Emergency Medical Services and Emergency Preparedness Supervisor. The goal of this change is to clearly describe the supervisory responsibility of this classification; the classification is a supervisory-level classification responsible for supervising the work of subordinate staff supporting the Emergency Medical Services (EMS) and Emergency Preparedness Response (EPR) programs. Additionally, changing the title will create clear and logical classification levels within the EMS and EPR unit.

ALTERNATIVES

The Board could choose not to adopt the revised class specification and/or the recommended title changes and direct Human Resources to make revisions.
