DISCUSSION / BACKGROUND

On December 26, 2021 a severe storm fell on El Dorado County, bringing high winds, heavy snow, substantial precipitation, and high and fast-flowing streams, creeks and rivers which resulted in power outages and damages. Over 19,000 PG&E customers have been left without power. As a result, and in an effort to preserve life, the Sheriff proclaimed a local emergency on December 29, 2021. Many elderly individuals and other vulnerable citizens have been without resources to keep them warm and sheltered. The Health and Human Services Agency has already begun assisting individuals through federally and state-funded programs such as the Severe Weather Energy Assistance and Transportation Services (SWEATS) as well as working with PG&E's FREED program to support people with disabilities and older adults during power outages; however, not all who have needs meet the eligibility requirements for such programs. The El Dorado Community Foundation (EDCF) has offered a cash donation to assist with sheltering these individuals.

The funding will be managed by the Emergency Preparedness Division of the Chief Administrative Office, in coordination with the Health and Human Services Agency. Recipients will be vetted and placed in lodging. The bills will be paid directly by the County, so there is no transfer of funds to individuals. Any donated funding not used for the current emergency will be reserved for future needs, as agreed by the EDCF. Any General Fund not used for this purpose will revert to the General Fund at the end of the current fiscal year.

ALTERNATIVES

The Board could choose not to accept the funds from the Community Foundation and/or choose not to allow the use of General Fund for this purpose.
